BANQUET BALCONY SEATS AVAILABLE FREE'---HOFF

Tickets obtained in Business Office now

Students who wish to watch the Football Banquet tonight from the balcony may obtain tickets from the Business Office upon presentation of their activity cards, Charles Hoff, Finance Secretary announced this morning. There are 300 tickets.

A "big announcement" will be made at the banquet by one of the regents, Hoff said. He would say nothing about the nature of the announcement except that it is something of top importance to all who are interested in Omaha University.

All members of the 1947 All-State Nebraska high-school football team have been added as guests to the affair, which is to honor Omaha's first football team since 1942.

Students who sit in the balcony will participate in the cheering and singing. The banquet is to start at 6:30, and students may bring their lunch, Hoff said.

Tug Wilson, commissioner of the Big 9 is to be the featured speaker. Other program highlights include a jam session by a Jack Feierman combo and the awarding of the 1947 OU football letters.

COFFEE HOUR TODAY; TOPIC, AID FOR EUROPE

The diminutives have it at the Coffee Hour today at 4.

Discussing Aid for Europe, coffee-drinkers will consider these two questions: "How Much Less Can You Eat", and "How Much Less Can You Spend"?

All students and faculty who are interested in giving aid to hungry Europe and who want to air their ideas over a cup of coffee are welcome.

Faculty Panel Speaker will be J. G. Somny, assistant professor of economics and sociology, who replaces J. D. Tyson, English instructor, who has been excused from the panel. Mr. Tyson was in an automobile accident Wednesday in which his wife was seriously injured. Student panel members are Burton Howard and Paul Youngstrom.

GLENN RICHTER TO CAPTAIN INDIANS IN OPEN- ER AT WASHBURN TOMORROW NIGHT IN TOPEKA, KANS. GYM

Five letter winners in OU's starting lineup.

It's opening night tomorrow for Coach Harold Johnk's Indian basketball squad. The Omaha U. hoopsters ring up the curtain on their third post-war season in Topeka, Kans., against a potent Washburn University team.

Glenn Richter, one of seven letter men on the varsity, will captain the squad from his forward position.

Last year Richter was lost to the squad in mid-season after a leg fracture.

Coach Johnk has listed an all-letterman starting lineup. Mike Landman, top scorer for the past two years, will join Richter at forward. Ray Schmidt will be at the pivot. Roger Sorensen and Lou Clure will get the call at guard.

Washburn has six letter men back from last year's squad, which placed second in the Central Intercollegiate Conference.
